INDIAN GUIDE CASE REFUTED IN COURT BY MRS. STILLMAN

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 10.—Mrs. Anna U. Stillman took the stand in her own defense here today in the hearing of the divorce action of her husband James A. Stillman, and denied categorically charges of misconduct between herself and Fred Beauvais, half cast Indian guide who has been named co-respondent in the case.

Her denials included dates in November 1917 and January 1918, named specifically in indictments Baby Guy Stillman, whose paternity is questioned, was born in November 1918.

Mrs. Stillman was not allowed to answer two questions asked to show whether or not she shared the same room with James A. Stillman on February 26, 1918 and in the St. Regis hotel in New York, on February 12 and February 26, 1918.

The defendant testified that she did not spend a night with Fred Beauvais.

THREE BARNS, THREE AUTOS BURN IN FIRE

Three barns, three automobiles and a quantity of personal property were destroyed by fire shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, entailing a loss estimated at about $5,000 to $6,000.

The barns were grouped together in the rear of the homes of F. J. Schwartz and D. A. Glover, between Sixth and Seventh streets on Middle avenue. Flames were first observed in the Schwartz barn, the central one of the group, and the fire department was notified. So quickly did the flames spread that they had communicated to the two other barns by the time the department had arrived.

The Schwartz barn was used as a garage, and housed three automobiles that belonged to George Smith, the Delco battery agent. He used one for himself and rented the use of the other two. The three machines were practically ruined. Mr. Smith was partially insured but not enough to cover his loss which is about $2,000. The Glover barn had a good deal of lumber in it, as well as some household furniture. The barn of S. L. Sands in the rear of the other two also had some personal property in it, but it was mostly removed.

The barns are practically a total loss. A large crowd was present, having been aroused from their beds by the spectacular fire that lit up the entire neighborhood when it was at its height. The cause of the blaze is unknown.

State Would Save Expense; Nollies Charges Against 5 Lorain Officers

The criminal cases against patrolmen Harry Stapleton, E. R. Meade, William Babcock, W. H. Johnson and E. E. Plice, of Lorain, indicted May 10, 1921, on a charge of bribery were nollies by prosecuting attorney Lawrence Webber with the consent of Judge W. B. Thompson, this morning.

The case of Harry Stapleton, the first to be called was opened, when assistant prosecutor Chas. Adams, of Lorain, arose and addressed the court. He stated that since the indictment of the men there never had been a time that the State was not ready to try the cases. However, certain things beyond control had caused the attorneys for both sides to ask for a continuance. However, when it was decided to start the trial of the cases, a check up was made of the witnesses for the State the work being entrusted to a reliable man. It was found that one woman, a leading State witness was engaged in an illegal business at or near Cleveland, a man, also a leading witness had been convicted of a crime, was now in prison, and the testimony of these witnesses was necessary, but the State felt that no conviction could be obtained on the testimony of witnesses of that character. Therefore it had been thought best rather than to run up a bill of costs to drop the cases. Judge Thompson agreed with Mr. Adams and the entry was made.

Judge Walter D. Meals, of Cleveland, was on hand to conduct the defense, and expressed himself as well satisfied with the result.

Gen. Fu Wants Disarmament Provisions Carried Out, Oust Pro-Jap Agitators and Settle Shantung Disturbances

Pao Ting Fu, China, May 10.—General Wu Pei Fu, victor over the Manchurian army of General Chang Tso Lin and virtual dictator of northern China, declared today he will call all the Chinese people into a conference to adopt plans for a government modeled after that of the United States.

Both General Wu and the Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang are certain that they will conquer all of China. They are still being resisted in the south by the army of Sun Yat Sen, head of the Cantonese government.

General Feng said that his soldiers—all of whom had been converted to Christianity by missionaries—went into battle wearing arm bands reading:

Fighters Christianized
"For God and country kill all and spare none."

General Wu, who is the hero of North China, gave the following exclusive interview to International News Service:

"With victory at hand we are already planning the future of China. We shall call together all the Chinese peoples into conference within a year to plan for a Chinese government, patterned after that of the U. S.—so far as it can be adapted to China."

"We will rid China of all pro-Japanese traitors, settle the disturbances in the Shantung peninsula and strive to fulfill the expectations of the Chinese people."

GENOA OUTCOME FAVORABLE AS RUSS DELAY REPLY

GENOA, May 10.—The Russian reply to the allied memorandum of conditions for eventual recognition of the Moscow Soviet government, which was to have been delivered today, but was held up at the last moment, criticizes the contents of the allied communication.

"The Russian delegation notes, and not without astonishment, the remarkable fact that the allied memorandum deals only in the most general terms with the most important question, namely, Russia's recovery," said the text of the Russian document.

"Unless we are surprised, the financial contract, he added apart from the political matter, was a clause which never hitherto had figured in the pourparlers between the Russians and other delegations. "Russia's counter claims are infinitely more justified than the foreign claims."

"If the labors of the conference are threatened with failure the answer is to be given."

Blame Labor War As Two Officers Killed by Bombs

MANUFACTURERS SEE BRIGHTER FUTURE

NEW YORK, May 10.—A nationwide survey of American conditions show that trade and business have "turned the corner" and have left depression far behind, it was announced by John E. Egerton, of Nashville, Tenn., president of the National Association of manufacturers at the association convention here today. The advance, Mr. Egerton said, is stable, sane and definite. Business is on the upgrade, he continued in all the basic industries.

This survey was received by means of 30,000 questionnaires sent out to business men all over the United States.

"There is a general tenor of CHICAGO, May 10.—Fred (Frenchy) Madera, president of the Chicago building trades council, "Big Tim" Murphy and "Con" Shea, all prominent in labor circles, were arrested this afternoon at the order of chief of police Charles C. Fitzmorris in connection with the slaying last night of two policemen in the bomb war that has gripped the city.

As the three were seized, scores of policemen rushed to raid union headquarters with orders to arrest scores of business agents for the unions and other men supposed to be leading the campaign of terror.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Chicago today was an armed camp as every available policeman rounded up suspects in the latest outbreak of the labor war here which culminated in the slaying of two policemen, wounding of another and the bombing of two plants during the night. Lieutenant Terrance Lyons and Patrolman Thomas Clarke were the policemen killed.

John Rafferty, 35, close friend of "Big Tim" Murphy, labor leader under sentence to prison for a mail robbery, is in jail partially identified as one of the occupants of the dilapidated automobile used by the murderers. Six others were caught by police early today.

The shootings came when a scouting squad of police attempted to stop the "murder car" following reports of a printing house bombing.

More than 100 printers were in the building at the time. The command to halt was answered by a volley of shots and the death car sped away.

Chief of detectives Hughes plans to take every labor official in Chicago who may have knowledge of the murderers into custody for interrogation.

Police believe the bomb which rocked the printing plant was intended for a building being constructed across the street under the terms of the Landis building trades wage decision.

The other building bombed was a garage where nonunion glaziers have been employed.

DEPORTATION OF GLADYS SHARON SUSPENDED

Attorney Anthony Nieding received word yesterday afternoon from J. A. Mackey, inspector in charge of the immigration service of the U. S. Department of Labor, that the deportation of Mrs. Gladys Sharon of this city, to Canada had been suspended until further notice. The original order came from the Assistant Commissioner General at Washington.

Mrs. Sharon, is the Elyria girl who unwittingly married a Canadian, thereby losing her American citizenship. She left her husband at Toronto, and he has been endeavoring to compel her return for several months. Senator J. F. Burke, and Attorney Nieding enlisted the attention of Senator Willis to the case, and told him a great wrong was being done to her at the same time explaining the situation. The result is the order suspending the order for deportation until the case can be further investigated.

Governor Asks Ohioans To Pay Tribute to Her On Mother's Day, Sunday

COLUMBUS, May 10.—In a Mother's Day proclamation, Governor Davis asks that Ohioans pay tribute next Sunday to their mothers. The governor requests that, in all houses of worship and Sabbath schools, exercises be held, "to express the significance of the occasion," and that "men, women and children wear as a reverential token their mother's favorite flower."

"From the beginning of man, it has been the lot of mothers to suffer, to guide, to sacrifice, to love with an unselfishness without equal," said Governor Davis. "We speak of the achievements of men, we laud their contributions to the world's progress, but the transcendent part, though performed unselfishly and unobtrusively, always has been, and always will be, that of mothers."

"At birth, at death and in all of life's vicissitudes in between, she gives of herself. She makes the home, her influence remains with us throughout life and actuates our best impulses."

MOTHER AND THREE TOTS DIE IN FIRE

OLNEY SPRINGS, Colo., May 10.—Mrs. C. J. Elliott and her three children, June, 8, Arley, 5, and Jessie, 1, are dead today from injuries resulting from the explosion of a five gallon can of kerosene in their one room home at Bush Springs, five miles north of here.

Mother, Separated From Mate, Killed With 3 Daughters

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 10.—Mrs. Edith Miller Buzby, wife of William S. Buzby, vice president of Keystone Lubricating Company, Philadelphia, and her three daughters today were found dead from illuminating gas in Mrs. Buzby's home at Ventnor, near here.

The police say that notes found in the house indicate that Mrs. Buzby had planned the death of herself and daughter. She is said to have been separated from her husband three years.

The daughters were Constance, age 11; Edwinnia, 9, and Mary 6. This extract from the Rubelvaly was found at the end of a note which Mrs. Buzby had left for her husband to read:

"What if the soul could cast the earth aside
"And naked on the air of heaven ride
"Wer't not a shame, wer't not a shame indeed,
"In this clay carcass longer to abide?"

ELYRIA BOND IS NOW OVER $4,000,000

The city of Elyria has bonded itself fairly well according to figures obtained at the city auditors office. The people are obligated to pay bonds issued to the amount of a little over $4,000,000.

The various bond issues are divided up into general city bonds, water works bonds, and special assessment bonds of various kinds, while the school board now has $1,400,000 of bonds outstanding.

The bond issues are divided up as follows: Special city bonds, $745,500; Water works bonds, $1,712,500; Special assessment bonds, $197,405.88; School bonds, $1,400,000.

The amount of the sinking fund to the credit of the city, is $213,987.32, divided up into $36,332.22 in cash and $177,155 in investments. The levy for 1922 provides for paying off $67,593 worth of bonds and $43,645 in interest.

The schools have $50,000 in the sinking fund, and the present levy is 8 mills.

F. M. Stevens, of the school board was asked what provisions if any had been taken towards paying off the indebtedness as it accrues, and he said that no provisions outside the regular appropriations had been considered, and that he anticipated no trouble in making the necessary payments.

Mayor Jones, on the other hand, states that some change in the taxing laws are needed before the city will be able to meet the interest and bond issues as they come due. "The city must stop issuing bonds for school and city improvements, if the people expect to meet their obligations with the present system of taxation, as it does not bring in enough money to pay present obligations."

JILTED, SHOTS GIRL, CHUM AND THEN HIMSELF

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 10.—Jilted after a three year's courtship, George West, 26, early today shot his sweetheart, Miss Elvira Schuman, 22, and her companion, Mrs. Muriel Miller, 35, and then fired a bullet into his own head. The two women were on their way to work on a North Side street when they encountered West. He opened fire immediately. The three were rushed to the Presbyterian hospital, where it was announced West and Miss Schuman were in a dying condition and the injury of Mrs. Miller was most serious.

Undertaker Gets Judgment 'Spite' Returned Casket

MANSFIELD, May 10.—After being out just 58 minutes the jury returned a verdict for the full amount asked for, $254.40 in favor of Schroeder and Son, undertakers against Mrs. Abbie M. Bentz who has refused to pay the bill.

This is the case in which Mrs. Bentz became dissatisfied with the casket and had the body of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McBrydy disinterred 15 days after burial. She had the body transferred to another casket, reburied and then ordered the first casket returned to the undertaker.

Mrs. Bentz also became dissatisfied about the price of the slippers furnished by the firm. She removed one of the slippers when the body was disinterred and brought this ghostly shoe to court and offered it as an exhibit.

ELYRIANS HELP SAVE HOME IN COUNTRY FIRE, SECOND BLAZE

Fire destroyed a large barn and outbuildings at Penfield Junction last night, belonging to Mrs. Hoffman. How it started is unknown, but the blaze was a hot one, and neighbors by hard work succeeded in saving the house. Among those who helped at the fire were W. R. Blaney and E. J. Salsbury, of The Chronicle-Telegram force, and Ernest Erber and wife, of Lorain, who were passing when the blaze broke out.

During the progress of the fire, dynamite stored in an out-building near the barn let go, breaking several windows on the east side of the house. Seven years ago Mrs. Hoffman, lost her house and barn by fire, and two years ago she lost her husband. The loss is estimated at $2,000.

ELECTRIC WORKER HAS LIFE ENDANGERED BY A RECKLESS AUTOIST

An employee of the Electric Light Co. reported to the police that at 11:30 last night he had a narrow escape from being run down by an automobile whose number he was unable to get.

He was fixing an electric light at the corner of Broad and Water street, and had the lamp lit, hanging low in the street when the auto came along at a rapid rate. It came directly for the light, and the man had just time to jump to one side when the machine hit the light breaking it, and also breaking the wind shield of the auto. The driver put on speed and escaped but the lamp was smashed beyond repair.

129 SUITS TO BE FILED FOR TAX PAYMENT

Prosecuting Attorney Webber is a busy boy today preparing 129 civil cases to be filed in the court of common pleas. The cases are brought under section 5713 which provides that land on which taxes have not been paid for four years, foreclosure proceedings shall be begun, and the property sold for taxes.

This is the largest number of cases ever filed in court at the same time, and will give the clerk's office and deputies from the sheriff's office who will have to serve the legal papers plenty to do.

"Electric Emanator" Is Latest Cure-All

NEW YORK, May 10.—The perfection of a machine known to the world of science as the "electric emanator," a simple apparatus, the principle of whose operation remains unknown, but which has proved to be an electric tonic of vast curative possibilities, was announced today by the volunteer hospital, here.

Five "test cases" it is declared, proved that it stirs the cells of the body to cure ailments of the body of many kinds.

William J. Woodin, director of electric therapy at the volunteer hospital, in true scientific fashion, is most guarded about his claims for the "emanator." But his careful and guarded account of the experiment in five thousand cases shows that paralysis has been partly cured, that gripe is commonly cured in a single treatment, that a severe headache or toothache can be cured in twenty minutes, that running sores have been healed, that healing of incisions after operations has been greatly hastened and rheumatic sufferers relieved.

"No claims are made that this instrument is a 'cure all,' he declared. "I have made tests which convince me that it actually breaks up into several parts the electron, the atom of the electric world. The effect of the emanation of these broken electrons upon the body is a tonic to the body cells. It causes an awakened activity in

AUTO CRASHES INTO BUGGY; TOTS UNHURT

Two small children in a baby carriage narrowly escaped injury last evening when two automobiles collided at the Peerless oil station on East Broad street, near the bridge.

A H. Dengate, 239 E. Broad street, was turning into the station to get gasoline, when he saw Mrs. Vanek, 118 Quincy street, on the walk with the baby carriage. Dengate stopped to let her pass and his car was run into by another car belonging to A. D. Nielson, 1114 Middle avenue, driven by his son. The Dengate car crashed into the baby buggy breaking the front wheels, but fortunately not in juring the children. Dengate's car was considerably damaged by the impact.

This morning young Nielson was before the mayor on a reckless driving charge. He was told to try and adjust matters with Dengate, and his case was continued.

Yellow Line Favors Running Around Park

The city council met as a committee of the whole yesterday afternoon with Supt. F. W. Cohen, of the Lorain Elyria street car line to discuss a new franchise for the company.

The council considered the route up town from Lodi street, and found Mr. Cohen more ready to listen than at any previous meeting. A line up West avenue to Second street, to Court street and down Broad street to West avenue was favored by Mayor Jones, and one or two of the councilmen.

Mr. Cohen said he would favor coming up Mill street to Court St., around the square at either Second or Third street, then down to Cheapside to Broad, to Mill St. This is the first time he has ever indicated that the company would consider coming up town at all. He really, as a matter of fact, had rather let the cars stop where they now do on Lodi street, or cross the railroad tracks on Mill street, and stop on the hill without going any further.

Councilman Rawson spoke of the latter plan and said that this was done, the company could come up town at some later date, the time to be fixed in the franchise.

It was a harmonious meeting, and both the superintendent and the council were well pleased with it. No definite plan was decided on, but they now have something to work on, and other meetings will be held.

DEMPSEY PICKS CARPENTIER TO WIN

LONDON, May 10.—Jack Dempsey today picked Georges Carpentier to win his battle with Ted "Kid" Lewis on Thursday night. Dempsey said positively that he would sign up to fight Carpentier again if the latter wins. Dempsey did not remain in London but left late in the morning for Brighton to look over his prize dogs that had been shipped here from the continent. While at Brighton he will talk over the fight situation with Harry Preston, the promoter. Just as he was leaving Dempsey said: "I am sure that my next fight will be in Europe and that it will take place within the next six months—probably with Carpentier in London. I do not think much of the proposal that I fight Jess Willard again."

Lewis will wear a mouthpiece when he meets Carpentier. The Frenchman objected at first but has finally consented. British fight experts continue to predict that the French boxer will win. They say that his speed and strength are as good as ever.

FLYING SQUADRON OF LAW ENFORCEMENT CAMPAIGNERS

HERE ON MAY 30, 31, JUNE 1

The Flying Squadron, a party of law enforcement campaigners of national reputation, is to visit this city May 30 and 31 and June 1, conducting meetings in the Christian Church on Second street at 10 and 7:30 daily.

This group of speakers has been sent out by the Flying Squadron Foundation and is making a nation-wide tour in behalf of law enforcement, civic righteousness and social and industrial justice, according to a statement made by R. Middleton, advance representative for the Foundation.

Mr. Middleton was in the city on Tuesday conferring with the committee on arrangements for the coming of the Squadron. This committee is composed of Judge

R. Webb, president of the County Federation, Mrs. Nellie Hill, county president of the W. C. T. U., and Leroy Reisinger, an active young people's worker of the city. The committee is being assisted by a number of the local citizens. The Squadron is divided into three troops with two speakers in each group. The first afternoon and evening Hon. Frank S. Regan, Rockford, Ill., and Arthur E. Whitney, Columbus, O., will be the speakers. Mr. Whitney was formerly secretary and treasurer of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union. Was active in war work and finally was overseas secretary for the Y. M. C. A.

On the second day the second group appears, composed of James H. Woertendyke, Chicago, and D. Leigh Colvin, New York City. He is known as the "man with a message." Mr. Colvin is solid and convincing and is a splendid foil for Woertendyke. He is well informed on the history of the prohibition movement. These speakers are also heard in the afternoon and evening.

On the third and last day the leader of the campaign, Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, president of the Flying Squadron Foundation, editor of The National Engineer and formerly a member of the Illinois legislature will be heard both afternoon and evening. With Mr. Stewart will be Rev. Norma C. Miller Brown, Bloomington, Ill. Miss Brown served as chaplain in the Illinois senate in 1921, being

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

A Trying Period through which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Phila., Pa.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I was weak, nervous, dizzy and had headaches. I was troubled in this way for two years and was hardly able to do my work. My friends advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am very sorry that I did not take it sooner. But I have got good results from it and am now able to do my housework most of the time. I recommend your medicine to those who have similar troubles. I do not like publicity, but it will help other women I will be glad for you to use my letter."—Mrs. FANNIE ROSENSTEIN, 882 N. Holly Street, Phila., Pa.

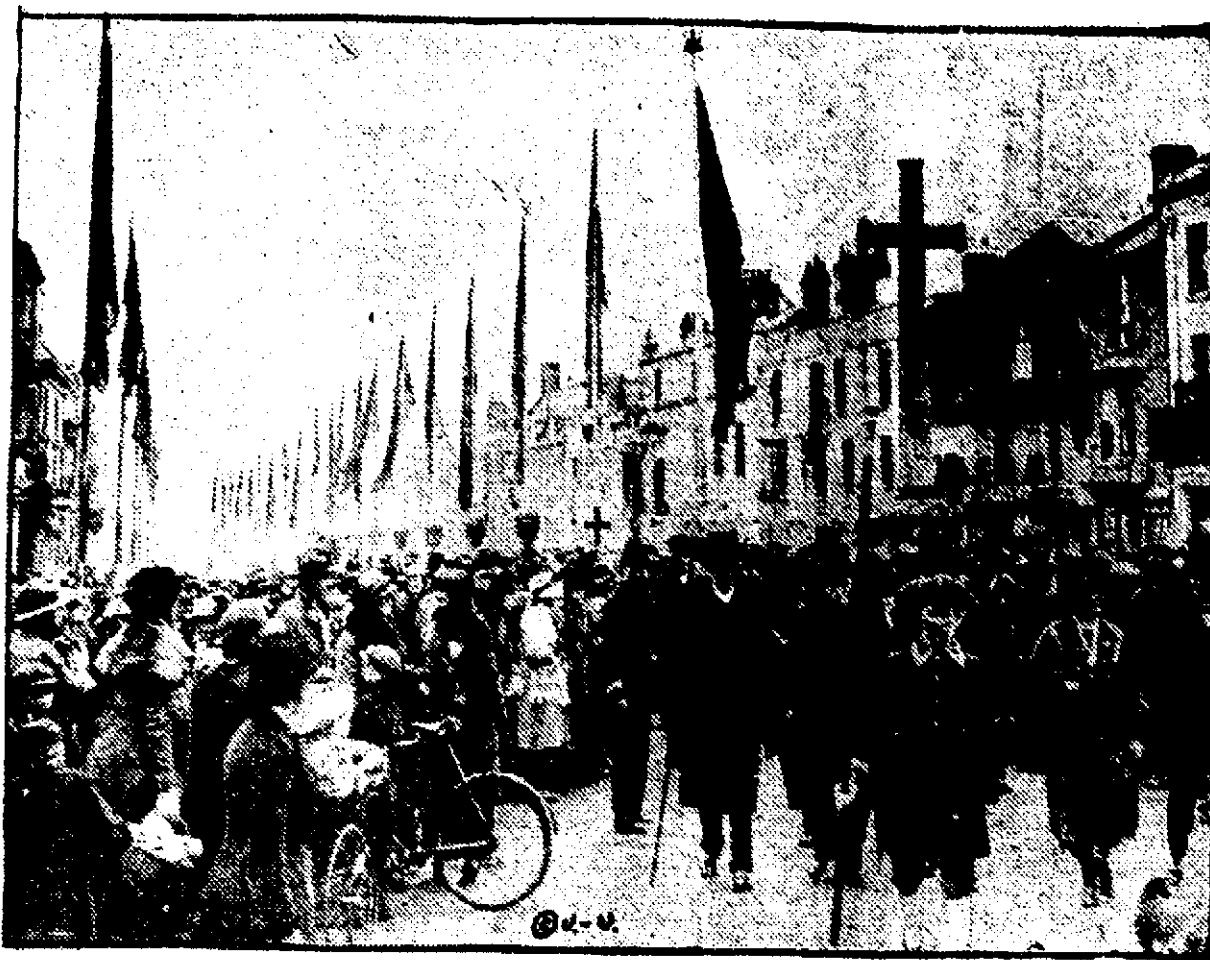

The critical time of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 50, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia. Heat flashes or waves of heat appear to pass over the body, cause the face to be very red and often bring on headache, dizziness and a sense of suffocation.

Another annoying symptom which comes at this time is an inability to recall names, dates or other small facts. This is liable to make a woman lose confidence in herself. She becomes nervous, avoids meeting strangers and dreads to go out alone.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women at this time. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. Let it help carry you through this time of life. It is a splendid medicine for the middle-aged woman. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

When Hungry Little Muscles Say, "Please Help Me"

Say, "Please Help Me"

DID you ever stop to think who it really is that's talking, when childish voices raise a clamor, "Mother, I'm hungry?"

It's really muscles and bones and nerves and cells worn in the stress and strain of play—that are calling for rebuilding material.

digests easily, quickly and completely. Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is exceptionally nourishing.

"That's splendid!" says appetite. "That's just the need!" say the hungry muscles, nerves and bones.

Ready to serve right from the package—always crisp and fresh. A favorite dish with all the family. Sold by grocers.

At The Theaters

American—"Things Men Do" will be at this theater the balance of the week. This play is featured by a battle between Edward Tearne and William Lion West interpret the roles of hero and step father. The battle takes place in the presence of the heroine in such a realistic way that observers are forced to the belief that both men actually had a grudge against each other. There are a number of other scenes that make it a popular presentation.

Colonial—"Polly of the Follies" with Constance Talmadge as the star will be at the Colonial Thursday for the balance of the week. Polly is a country girl who is yearning to escape the slavery of Uncle Silas. She gets a part in an amateur show, but Uncle Silas comes along in time to grab the act. She finally gets into the Follies, and with such startling results that the conclusion of the picture is decidedly out of the ordinary.

Strand—"Chivalrous Charley." The final reel of this exciting picture is worth the price of admission, showing the rarest kind of motorcycle riding outside of a motorcade. Through miles of beautiful country, along the water front, in and out of traffic from New York to New Rochelle, the hero drives his young bride chased by the metropolitan police in automobiles, horseback and motorcycles. It is a great picture and full of exciting incidents.

Dreamland—"The Guttersnipe" continues its run, and it has been a popular picture. Also another reel of "With Stanley in Africa," and a good comedy reel.

Grand—"Way Down East" has a firm grip on the theater going public who delight in a picture of this character. There are real home scenes down on the farm, and the characters are so well chosen that you can almost hear them speak. It is one of the best pictures shown in some months.

The Babylonians preserved the bones of their dead in coffin-shaped jars.

When Radio Is Used All Over Globe Look Out!

The radio craze continues to spread. Soon it will be around the world. Then look out.

For when China, Poland and Zululand start to broadcast someone is going to need an interpreter with about ninety-three languages, dialects and jargons ready for action.

Imagine sitting in with a parlor radio outfit.

"Bo-la, glub, blup, bub." Gasp as the grand opera selection is interpreted.

"It's only a Kaffir making love to his dusky sweetheart." So much much for that and the opera selection is resumed.

"Chee klick it se," comes over the radio and once again the interpreter comes to the rescue.

"It's only the missing link somewhere in darkest Africa calling to his mate." That's that.

On with the concert, only to be interrupted again. This time it's different.

"Dearie, can I have $37.48 for a new hat—I should say not, what-dye think I am, a millionaire?"

Just a husband and wife accidentally broadcasting a little family opera.

Then just in the midst of the political speech of Senator Hukom comes the following:

"Aw glawk napushla," and the interpreter explains that this is not the honorable senator afflicted with the hiccoughs, merely a Navajo Indian calling his squaw. Even the interpreter is interrupted.

"Wu chang pei lin too sen," as the lord high executioner of whoever happens to be bossing China announces to the world that the first lesson in the art of eating with chopsticks is about to begin.

All of which ought to stimulate the study of all known languages, flapper or otherwise, and the invention of a few new ones so that confidential radio messages will be possible.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are, in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heart-burn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

MEDINA

MEDINA, May 10.—Rev. Mr. Huffman, of Chippewa Lake, has been selected by the County Commissioners as County Home Chaplain.

Warrant issued in Justice Nickerson's court at Chippewa Lake charging F. C. Merrick, of Chippewa Lake, with forging name in cashing two $25 checks. Mrs. Merrick states her husband is a dope fiend and accuses him of drawing their savings, about $600 from the bank and leaving her penniless. Merrick formerly operated a blacksmith shop in Medina and Chippewa Lake.

Contagious diseases in Medina county slump to 38 with scarlet fever, whooping cough and pneumonia leading with 10 each.

The Medina Association of Congregational churches including all congregational churches in Medina, Ashland, Lorain and Huron counties granted its first license to preach to a woman, in the semi-annual conference held at Litchfield, which was admitted when eleven men and one woman, graduates this year of the Oberlin College Theological Seminary, were awarded licenses to be ordained as full-fledged ministers. The Woman's Board of Missions met in conjunction and Miss Rich of Elyria was selected as president. Dr. Nicholas Van der Pyle of Oberlin was elected moderator, B. V. Childs of Oberlin, registrar and Rev. B. V. Tippet of Lodi, scribe.

Read the accompanying letter. This letter was forced from the writer in my judgment by those who were dissatisfied over my selling meats for lower prices.

I buy in quantities and sell in volume, so I am able to undersell practically all of my competitors. I shall insist on selling at the lowest possible prices and by-products.

The cooler space in our new market provides ample room for both of my markets and therefore the general public will not be obliged to pay higher prices at any other place.

and Here's Why—

Elyria, Ohio, April 26th, 1922.
Mr. Shultz, Mgr. White Eagle Market—
Dear Sir: Owing to the dissatisfaction of our tenants, we will ask you to vacate the cooler in the market, when your rent expires May the 15th, 1922.
Yours Respectfully,
The Elyria Market House Co.,
S. Mendelson, Receiver

Service The new market will live up to the standards set forth by the old market, delivering to our customers the same efficient courteous treatment upon which our business is firmly built. If at any time you should have a mistake occur, just call the attention to the manager and everything will be righted. Or if you should at any time during the summer months receive an order of meats that does not exactly suit you, read our motto and let us do the rest.

OUR MOTTO: "MONEY CHEERFULLY REFUNDED IF NOT SATISFIED."

Prices We have always believed in a low selling price policy and a quick turnover. We believe that you can purchase your meat at our shop with greater economy than any other market, regardless of size. We do business.

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Publishers Service, Inc.

The Effort Lillian and Marge Made to Catch the Intruder.

WHAT is it, Marge? Ah-h!"

Lillian's quick brain did not need my gasp of fright in answer to her question. She had seen the look of terrified amazement on my face as I stared past her toward the window, and even as she spoke she had whirled, escaped to the window and was pulling frantically at the adjustable screen.

"Quick Marge," she commanded, and putting down my terror with an iron hand, I rushed to her side just as she tore the screen from its place, threw it out of the window, grasped with both hands at a queer-looking contrivance of knotted rope which hung taut just outside the window. I noticed that as she did so she sank to her knees inside the window.

"Your knees. Grab it with me," she commanded, and I obeyed her, feeling my arms almost drawn out of my sockets as I did so, with the unseen weight which depended from the rope.

"Shake it—hard! That's right. Can you keep it up if I take off one hand?"

"I—yes," I said determinedly between my set teeth.

I had not the slightest idea of her reason for the request, but I realized that upon that rope beneath me there was something human, evil which Lillian wished to capture if possible.

She withdrew her hand, gradually, so that there should be no sudden strain on mine, fumbled in her blouse, a gesture which chilled me. I knew, of course, that Lillian in time of stress, is never without a tiny revolver, but the prospect of her using it was terrifying.

"It isn't Smith," I gasped hastily. The face looked like a boy.

"It's not going to shoot him," she said impatiently, then she thrust the revolver through the window and fired three shots toward the peaceful sky above us.

"Going That Way."

There was a violent shaking of the rope, which did not come from our muscles, then a thud upon the earth below, followed by an involuntary groan, quickly smothered.

"Put out the light!" Lillian whispered the words close to my ear, and I hastened to obey her, noticing that she drew back to the side of the window as she spoke.

"Keep back there," she commanded, still in a whisper, as I started toward her. "He may take a notion to answer that last message of mine, and there's no need of giving him a target."

For answer, I dropped to my hands and knees and crawled to her.

"When you leave the window, I shall," I said firmly.

"I'm not quite an idiot," she retorted. "I'm not exposed to his fire. But you can help at that. Get up the other side of the window, so you can watch that direction. He'll have to crawl across one of our lines of vision, or else he'll be going toward the open road."

I imitated her strategy, shielded myself at the side of the window, and peered out into the darkness.

There was a hasty scrambling motion on the ground beneath the window, then a rustling movement in the grass. I strained my eyes, of course, unable to distinguish form or color, saw a grayish, formless shape moving swiftly along the ground, melting into the darkness.

"Going that way," I whispered, nodding Lillian.

"All right," she whispered back. "Now, let's pull up this contrivance. Pull! I thought that would be the next thing."

From the other side of the house rose a sound as of kicking, and a long, hysterical wail, Katie's voice, mingled with peremptory cries from my mother-in-law, shrill little cries from Junior, and one scream, short, quickly cut off, from Marion.

"Nobody's Hurt."

It was not necessary for me to see them to know that Katie was hysterical with fright, Mother Graham more angry than alarmed, that Junior was crying because he had been suddenly awakened, and that Marion—true daughter of her mother—had choked back her own terror and would remain quiet until some one came.

"Go to them, quickly," Lillian said. "I'll manage this. Tell them we thought we heard somebody trying to steal the chickens, and that I fired the revolver to frighten off the thieves."

I departed, not without a qualm of misgiving at leaving Lillian. I said to myself grimly that she was perfectly capable of leaving the window by the rope ladder and pursuing the fugitive single-handed should the thought occur to her. But there was no alternative for me and I hurried to the other part of the house. My pace accelerated by Katie's crescendo of sound.

I went to her door first, for I feared that she would have it down with her frantic knocking and kicking. I unlocked the door, calling reassuringly to her as I did so. As I opened the door she fell against me, half swooning, clutching at my dress frantically.

"Oh, vot ves iz, Missis Graham, you keeled, esst dot babee keeled!"

"Margaret! My mother-in-law's voice warned me that I must not delay in releasing her.

"Nobody's hurt, Katie," I said, grasping her arm firmly. "Stop that noise, and come with me while I unlock Mother Graham's door."

I fairly carried her down the corridor—so helpless from fright was she—and unlocked my mother-in-law's door to confront that lady, terrible in her extended majesty.

"I want an explanation of this proceeding at once, Margaret," she said. "And be assured I shall wire Richard to come home immediately. To think I have lived to see me to be locked in my room by my own son's wife."

Only on one day of the year are women permitted to enter the Chapel of St. John the Baptist, which is the glory of the Cathedral of San Lorenzo in Genoa. The prohibition goes back to the days of Pope Innocent VIII., who imposed it in recollection of the daughter of Herodias.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

"I've had a 'dark brown mouth'—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Hunch, Prejudice, or Logic?

Which do YOU use in placing your advertising?

A hunch may tell you where to invest your advertising dollars; you may win by following a prejudice for certain publications; but a sane and careful analysis of the field and the mediums which cover it is the best basis for a decision.

When you place an advertising contract, the only businesslike way to decide where to get the best returns is by logical analysis. And the way to get information for this analysis is from the statistical reports made by the Audit Bureau of Circulations

The A. B. C. examines thoroughly every record kept by its newspaper members which has a bearing upon the circulation or distribution. Figures are verified. Methods of securing subscribers are scrutinized and reported upon. The distribution is checked and subscribers classified in such a way as to aid in surveying the market.

The advertiser using A. B. C. reports does not have to piece together bits of information. When he places a campaign after reading the facts about an A. B. C. paper, as given in a report by the Bureau, he knows that every paper of every issue is going to count. He will reach the reader he wants.

The Chronicle-Telegram is a member of the A. B. C. Let us send you a copy of the latest report on our circulation and distribution.

THE STORY of an UNLOVED WIFE

AS TOLD TO GRACE PHELPS

THE BITTER SILENCE

Silence, they say, is golden but no woman who has ever quarreled with her husband thinks so! Nothing is more maddening to a member of the feminine sex as a man's silence when his wife is just ready to boil over with accusations and counter charges, if only he will give her the opening. There are wives, I have discovered, who don't need such a stimulus to pour out a torrent of invective but I was a very young wife.

All the way down in the elevator, all the way back to the hotel in the taxi, all the way up in the elevator to the door of my room, Alec said nothing.

I knew by this time that I had shown myself to be ill-bred in what I had fondly believed to be a crushing blow at Mrs. Underwood. But I felt that I had had provocation. It was Alec's lack of tact in the first place. What girl would not have taken offense at her husband's calm proposal to hand her over to another woman, for that woman to instruct her in the ways of polite society, for Alec could have meant nothing else. It was at once a reflection on my upbringing and an insult to my pride, not to mention the revelation it was to me of Alec's true opinion of me and the high regard he had for another woman.

Furthermore, was it merely a "high regard" he had for his "Phoebe"? Without in the least realizing why I felt so miserable, the pangs of jealousy were driving me on to believing all sorts of things about Alec's attitude toward Mrs. Underwood and hers toward him. If only he would speak! But he said nothing.

He opened the door for me and then, inclining his head gravely but without even so much as looking at me, he left me. Stunned, I stood in the doorway until he had turned the corner. Then I came to my senses and slammed, rather than shut the door behind me and rushing into my bedroom, I fung myself down and cried until I could cry no more.

If this were what marriage was going to mean to me, I felt that I preferred to die. If this evening were an example of Alec's method of "protecting" me, then I preferred not to be protected! Humiliation after humiliation had been heaped upon me, insults upon insults. It was quite evident that Alec thought more of how my actions and words had hurt his Phoebe than of how their actions—and especially Mrs. Underwood's animosity which she had carefully concealed from Alec—had hurt me. I did not matter. His Phoebe was one to have her hand kissed, while I could be taken home with never so much as a word from Alec to soothe my hurt feelings.

Gradually I became quieter and as my sobbing ceased my poor brains began to function a little more clearly. There was no reason at all why I should put up with Alec's treatment. Since he was so careful of Mrs. Underwood's feelings, it was plain enough that he liked her more than he liked me. True, he had never made any pretense even of liking me. Our marriage had no sentimental basis at all. In fact, it was very likely that having had to marry me, out of a mistaken notion of duty to my father, Alec had been prevented from marrying her.

When this thought occurred to me, my tears broke out afresh but when I had calmed down again I had resolved on one step at least, to take myself out of Alec's life as quickly as possible.

Food For Thought

When you buy a car do you stop to reflect what that car is apt to be worth a year or two or three years from today when you wish to sell it?

It's a good point to think about—but don't confine your thinking to the car alone.

You must choose a car of known merit, of course—one whose makers pride themselves on high standards of material and workmanship. The Cadillac is such a car, but we like to believe that the excellent reputation it bears in Elyria, and the high re-sale value it commands, are due in some measure to the quality of service with which we have backed it up locally.

We are proud of the car we sell, and proud of our ability to meet the needs of the owner.
